Observations...

By the Editor

The Mississippi Legislature will meet November 14, in special session to consider necessary legislation for the enactment of a fifteen year road program . . . the first act to be considered will be the raising of the gasoline tax . . . this does not alarm us particularly . . . the price of gasoline has been steadily rising and whether an added tax is placed or not we will continue to pay advanced prices . . . perhaps this is one of the easiest methods of paying the tax burden . . . our interest is what will the legislature do about Highway 90 and the Bay St. Louis bridge . . . the Mississippi Coast Council, headed by our fellow townsman Dan Russell, Jr., has issued a brochure on this subject which shows the urgent need for this project . . . it shows the increased amount of traffic . . . the percentage of the traffic over highway 90 as compared to the total traffic over four other major highways . . . highway 90 is not included in the 15 year program as we understand it . . . it must be separate legislation and must carry a separate appropriation . . . we on the coast have been much neglected in road matters so let's hope that the members of the legislature will realize our plight, and too, they should realize that the Coast is Mississippi's playground . . . to our readers, get busy and exert every effort to bring the facts before the legislative bodies in order that this program may not be overlooked . . . and speaking of the legislature . . . they are to consider paying back to the counties part of the money originally spent on highways and bridges, and Hancock County is scheduled to receive $75,000.00 if this legislation is approved . . . the Board of Supervisors on Monday morning approved an amendment to the bid of T. E. Kellar for furnishing clam shells for surfacing the Beach Road in Bay St. Louis at a price of 52 cents less than his original bid . . . some 1200 yards of shells are to be placed on this roadway at this time, and the contractor is to complete the shoring of the fill . . . it is thought that there is a sufficient amount of money on hand from the original appropriation of $20,000.00 to complete the shelling and fill . . . our hate must again be tipped to these public officials for a job well done . . . the job of surface treating the roadway will be done later, probably in the spring when weather conditions will permit, the laying of asphalt . . . Judge D. M. Russell overruled the demur filed by the attorneys representing the former members of the Board of Supervisors and their Bonding Company, in the suit of the State Auditor . . . however he sustained a motion that Lander Necessa former supervisor be made a party to the complaint . . . the bill of complaint will be amended and the matter will be heard at the next term of the chancery court . . . the St. Stanislaus Sildene Club is sponsoring a motorcycle from Bay St. Louis to the Gulf Coast Military Academy for the game between the Rock-A-Chaws and the Academy Boys . . . this is scheduled for Saturday, November 19th . . . the Boosters Club of Bay High are planning a big time for tonight . . . it is homecoming at Bay High . . . one of the highlights of the festivities will be the game between Bay Hi and Eatonville High at St. Stanislaus Stadium, which will be preceded by a parade starting at Bay High at 7 p. m. . . the day will be climaxed with a dance for the Alumni and students of Bay High at the Teen Age Club.

LIONS BOWL IS NAME OF FOOTBALL CLASSIC

Bay St. Louis' Bowl game to be played some time in the near future is to be sponsored by Lions International. It will be called the Lions Bowl. The date of the game, which will be held in St. Stanislaus stadium, has not been yet set. Letters are now on their way to schools in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. Teams will be constituted from these three states.

Chamber Of Commerce Discusses Provisions For Highway Program

Bay High School Is Set For Homecoming Program

Today is Homecoming for Bay High. Extensive preparations have been made for the event which will feature a monster pre-game parade, an exciting battle on the football field and a dance tonight for alumni and students of Bay High.

The parade, starting at 7 p. m., will be the signal for all followers of the Tigers to join in the celebration. Headed by the Bay High band, a motorcade of decorated automobiles will make its way up Carroll Avenue to the Beach, along the beach to Main St., down Main to Nease and from there to the St. Stanislaus stadium. The Homecoming queen, Miss Mitty Maskew, and her two maids, Miss Janet Soller and Miss Margaret Murphy, will be riding in one of the convertibles near the head of the procession.

Somewhere along the route a casket bearing the name of Eatonville, Bay High's opponent, will be burned in conjunction with the laying of shells so that the streets can be more quickly put back into first class shape.

D. M. Russell, president of the Mississippi Coast Council, called the attention of the group to the cavalcade of cars which are to be sent from the three coast counties to Jackson, Miss.

The purpose of the cavalcade is to give support at the special session of the legislature to the proposals as set forth in the brochure published by Mr. Russell on the needs of Highway 90. Mr. Russell states in the booklet that the condition of the highway is directly attributed to the increase in traffic.

It is also pointed out that a new bridge is needed across the Bay of St. Louis and that Highway 90, at the eastern terminal in Jackson, Miss., is only 18 feet wide. This stretch of road is much too narrow and presents a major traffic hazard. Many other criticisms and suggestions are set forth in the brochure which will be the basis on which the group of interested persons will base their arguments at the special session.

Tigers Take The Measure Of Long Beach Eleven 12-7

The Bay High Tigers, who play in the St. Stanislaus stadium, defeated a fighting Long Beach team last week at the scene of tonight's battle. The score was a very close one 12-7 in favor of the home team.

In last week's game fullback Truman Schultz scored both touchdowns for Bay High. After a sustained drive of 80 yards, Schultz took the ball over on an off tackle plunge from the 5 yard line. The try for conversion failed as Schultz attempted to crack the center.

Long Beach capitalized on a Tiger fumble to score early in the second quarter. They recovered on their opponent's 20 yard line. From there they made gains down to the one yard line, where right half A. D. Hendon started left end for a touchdown. The conversion was made by Boother.

In the fourth quarter the Tigers made good use of a Long Beach fumble on the 20 yard line. Schultz went around right end and a few plays later to tally standing up.

PRESBYTERIANS GATHER

Attention all Presbyterians! Miss Barbara Sick would like to contact all Presbyterians in Bay St. Louis and the surrounding areas. To remain in touch with her, write Box 152, Bay St. Louis, Miss., and include your name and address.

A meeting for all these interested will be arranged to take place in the near future. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the possibility of establishing a Presbytery in the area of the Bay.

The Main Who Came to Dinner, a comedy in three acts by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman will be presented by the Little Theatre on November 13 at 8:30 p. m. The teams both champions in their leagues are the Bay St. Louis Tigers and the Bogalusa Bushmen.

The winner of this game has a chance to play in the Chocolate Bowl in New Orleans in the latter part of December.

DELTA STATE ALUMNI ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Mr. Maxwell of Cleveland, former teacher, Charles J. K. Kell, was elected president; Chandler E. Worley, of Indianapolis, as president of the Delta State Teachers College Alumni Saturday. Officers who were elected at the business meeting of the Alumni Association Homecoming Day to serve with Mr. Nowell are: Warner Hopgood, Ballard of Cleveland, vice-president; Hugh Can Smith of Cleveland, treasurer; and Miss Gladys Castle of Kilmichael, secretary. Mr. Nowell, Mr. Smith and Miss Castle are employed at the Delta State Teachers College.

Dr. W. M. Kethley, President of the Delta State Teachers College, welcomed a large assembly of Alumni prior to the first appearance of the Delta Singers, choral group, under the direction of Dr. John Paul Jones.

A constitution which is a composite of the best parts of constitutions of other alumni associations comparable to the Delta State Teachers College Alumni Association was prepared and presented Saturday by Mr. Nowell, former vice-president of the association. The project of the Association is to cultivate and perpetuate individual acquaintance and friendship and to bind the alumni into a unit of influence to be exerted always for the advancement of the Delta State Teachers College. The constitution, which was voted upon and accepted includes the membership dues of $2.00 per year. A request was made to all Delta State Teachers College Alumni to provide Miss Castle with their current addresses.

The Homecoming Day program under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Zeigel of Cleveland included a parade and pep meeting Saturday morning; open house at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Kethley; and a tea dance in Whifield Gymnasium dinner in Scott Dining Hall; and a football game between the teams of Arkansas State College of Jonesboro, Ark. and the Delta State Teachers College on Delta Field Saturday afternoon and evening.

Between halves Saturday evening the Greenville, Miss. High School Band and the Delta State Teachers College Green and White Band gave creditable performances on the Delta State Field. A group of young men and women from the Physical Education Department of the Delta State Teachers College gave an exhibition of the square dance.

Miss Mary Laurie Turner of Cleveland, football queen, shared honors with Miss Louise Brooks of Ruleville and Miss Josephine Barnett of Carthage Saturday evening.

Minnesota was derived from two Sioux words meaning "Sky-colored water."

Tomato Crop Better
Than Expected On Schedule

State extension agent, Eugene Smith, reported that the increased production at the Truck Crops Experiment Station on average of three year yields indicates.

In reporting results of the tests Dr. Douglas C. Bain, plant pathologist, said regular application of the sprays not only controlled the major diseases but also prevented loss by keeping the so-called minor diseases in check.

"Truck growers," he said, "realize the importance and value of spraying to control serious foliage diseases; however, it is difficult to see the advantages gained by a regular spray schedule for plants that appear to be free from disease. Arguments against such a program are that a good yield is often obtained even in spite of obvious diseases, and that spraying apparently healthy plants is a needless and expensive procedure."

Not every grower suffers loss because of foliage diseases every year, he pointed out. However, it is difficult to predict those sessions during which defoliations will be severe. Therefore, it is reasonable to insure against heavy losses by following a regular spray schedule with an effective fungicide every year. This is particularly true in view of the results at the Truck Crops Station.

"If spraying is to be done, thorough coverage is absolutely necessary," Dr. Bain said, "and much can be gained by incorporating an effective insecticide with the fungicide for control of tomato worm."

Both stake-pruned and not-staked plants were used in the tests because both methods of culture are practiced on a commercial scale in the truck crops area. The spray schedule consisted of five applications, each at 10-12 day intervals and beginning when the first flower cluster had set fruit.

NO VETERANS CHECKS FOR THIS CHRISTMAS

Insurance dividend check will not reach John Q. Veteran of World War II in time to defray the advance of Santa Claus this year. So says Bob DeKey, State Commander of Veterans Affairs.

DeKey quotes the Assistant Administrator for Insurance as saying that reports that checks for the special NSLI dividend might start going out before Christmas, were "absolutely without foundation."

"The fact is," according to the report from Washington, "We are even working overtime in an effort to get these dividend checks to the veterans entitled to them according to our present schedule which calls for the first checks to be dispatched some time around the middle of January."

An estimated 16 million veterans and servicemen are entitled to a share of the 2.8 billion dollar dividend fund. Once payment starts, checks are expected to go into the mails at the rate of 200,000 per working day.

More than 12 million applications for dividend payment have been received in Washington since application forms were made available last Aug. 29.

AMERICAN HUSBANDS EXPECT SUPER WIVES

If you are an American husband, completely satisfied with your marriage, you're probably—in an innocent sort of way—a polygamist. At least that's the conclusion suggested by an article in the November issue of Good Housekeeping magazine.

"There is some undefined quality in the American male," says the author, "that makes him expect as his birthright a wife with the combined attributes of every female heroine in life, history, or fiction with whom he has ever had even a modicum of acquaintance."

The article, titled "The Nine Wives of Mr. McViddie," then goes on to say that "The worst of it is he has succeeded in convincing women noted for their gullibility that his requirements are perfectly reasonable. And once having fallen into this trap, the American wife now drives herself to achieve standards of perfection undreamed of even by her demanding husband. With daily encouragement from him, she tries to be at least nine people in one."

Giving each to Mr. McViddie's "Nine Wives" a name fitting her special qualifications, the author lists them this way:

MRS. MOM, who knows that her husband likes his four children served to him on a silver platter for half an hour each day and then whisked away beyond earshot for the remaining 23 and a half hours.

MRS. SUPER SERVICE, who has been convinced by her husband that she would only systematize her house-work, the laundry would always be done, cleaning finished, meals prepared, and relaxation time be abundant.

MRS. OPEN HOUSE, whose husband serves her famous punch, a concoction that invariably leads to a dinner for twenty neighbors, a friendly poker game and a three-course "shack" at midnight;

MRS. GOURMET, who studied cooking religiously and then, when she perfected poulet au vin ordinaire du pays, had to listen to her husband say, "This reminds me of mother's hamburgers. Where's the catchup?"

MRS. EVE, whose husband, during the split second he would really look at her every now and then, expects to find her as ravishing and entrancing as she was the day they fell in love.

MRS. BOOSTER, whose husband expects her to entertain out-of-town clients and their families overnight and who found herself doing the community laundry by way of "demonstrating a washing machine. Mr. McViddie was selling,"

MRS. BUDGET, whose husband has asked her to produce such items as a piano, a new oil burner, a television set, and a pair of Bristol vases from her weekly food allowance;

MRS. BLUE RIBBON, whose husband persuaded her to teach the children to swim, start a music class for the neighborhood, teach French to their friends run a weekly bridge clinic, and enter her peonies in the garden show;

MADAME CHAIRMAN, whose husband staged a whirlwind campaign to have her voted alternate recording secretary of the Community Fund—which resulted in her being chosen to head three major organizations the following year.

MORE BEEF CATTLE

Production of pastures and feed for an expanded livestock industry seems a logical method of effectively utilizing much of the large acreage to be removed from cotton in Mississippi.

The long-time outlook for cattle is more favorable than for many other commodities. With the population of the United States now increasing at the rate of two million persons annually, meat is one of the foods most desired by consumers.

As long as consumer's buying power is maintained by full employment, there is little to worry about as regards the buying power of beef cattle.

The farmer or planter who is adding cattle to his enterprise for the first time should realize that considerable capital will be required. Besides foundation cattle needed to utilize available land, he must purchase materials for fencing, seeds and fertilizer. If the operator is to be a fairly sizable one, a hired manager with a livestock background will be part of the program.

After a fencing plan has been worked out for the fields to be utilized by cattle, the farmer should plant pastures and organize a liberal feed production program. Incidentally, recommended fencing for cattle is four strands of barbed wire with a good system of posts.

Foundation stock should not be purchased until the pastures and feed program has been started.

Each farmer must determine the class and number of cattle he will carry, and the type of production and system of fencing he will need to permit the most profitable utilization of the land. He must develop his own plans, but he can get help from the county agent and available publications. Also, he can visit and study successful cattle operations already well established in the state.

Inexperienced cattlemen often over estimate the carrying capacity of pastures. Prospective cattlemen, even on good land, are advised to allot at least three acres for each brood cow for the 12 month pasture period.

While specific pasture areas may support cattle at the rate of one or several head of brood cows or mature steers to the acre for a short period, the average capacity of pastures is far less. Remember that it is easy to later adjust pasture acres downward, but to be compelled to reduce cattle numbers when feed supply is short and expensive.

Type of production to be followed by the individual cattlemen is important. Ordinarily the cow-calf system is recommended for all areas of the state. Cows selected, may range in quality from native to high grades. Good beef bulls are always recommended.

It is always advisable to have a reserve of feed for cattle, as stacked hay, baled hay, or silage. Also, a source of protein feed may be needed.

If stocker or feeder cattle are to be bought, buy in the fall instead of in the spring. Great runs of grass cattle move to the markets during the fall months, depressing prices of such commercial cattle. In the spring there is always a shortage of medium-fleshed killing cattle, as well as cattle to go on grass, with the result that prices are higher.

Where one follows the plan of buying in the fall and selling in the spring, he is almost sure, if he otherwise uses reasonable judgment, to make money. If he follows the reverse procedure, he almost certainly will have to go out of the cattle business.

A good water supply for cattle is essential.

The Commission Council Accepts Bid To Repair 75,000 Gal. Water Tank

At a regular meeting of the Commission Council on Oct. 17, the bid of the Water Tank Service Co., was accepted in the amount of $1875 to repair, paint, and place in first-class condition the 75,000 gallon water tank at Carroll and Uman ave.

This tank has not been in use for the past six years. The work will include lowering the 10 inch shaft of the artesian well from 90 to 100 feet so that better water pressure can be secured.

Complete 4-H Club Plans For Wild-Life Management

Plans for the 1949-50 4-H Club Wildlife Management Projects were completed at a meeting of personnel of the Extension Service, the Mississippi Conservation League and interested sportsmen held in the office of the State Game and Fish Commission on October 11. R. O. Monksmith, Extension Service Director of 4-H Club activities; Jimmy Therrell, Extension Forester, both of State College; Ralph Tatum, President Mississippi Conservation League, Jackson; Wiley Harris, well-known Jackson sportsman, manager of Station WJDX and personnel of the State Game and Fish Commission which included Director R. In view of the widespread development of the farm-fish-pound activity in Mississippi special emphasis will be placed on Project No. 4, which is Farm Pond Management. The Commission estimates there are approximately 18,000 farm fish ponds in the state and that very, very few are properly managed. ## HOME AGENT'S NOTES

Cold Chicks Cause Less Cooperation

By Miss Madge Allred

It's time to "winterize" your poultry program. Winter production is profitable production, but it takes careful attention to details and good management.

These cool nights, doors and windows should be closed on three sides of the poultry house. Let only one side stay open. Drafts on cool nights might mean cold and most certainly a drop in egg production and a drop in profits.

Before long, we'll not only have cool nights, but cold days and nights. The windows and doors on three sides of the poultry house must then be closed permanently for the winter. If these windows and doors do not fit tightly, they may need to be stripped. Tack a strip of lathing or other material over cracks around the windows and doors to keep out drafts.

Even on the one open side of the house you may have to put a drop curtain or plan to partially close the windows.

Another change for winter comfort of your hens is to add more litter on the floor. Floor litter should be 8 to 10 inches deep. Planer mill shavings make a good litter. This deep litter helps keep the house dry and keep the birds warmer and more comfortable.

Check the roof for any leaks that might let cold rain drip in and cause a wet floor. Provide for ample water and feeder space for this winter. Plenty of clean fresh water is a must for the cold days ahead.

Every day, look over your flock and cull out any birds that look weak or off feed.

SHADES OF PARCHMENT

You can give your home a decorative touch with lamp shades tailor-made to match the room. They'll brighten a room on a grey winter day. They might go on your list of "things I can make for Christmas gifts" too.

To use one of the methods of making a parchment lamp shade, follow this step by step method:

1. Remove old shade covering carefully so you can use it as pattern for cutting the new one.

2. Paint the frame with oil house paint or varnish the rims and spokes with cotton material to prevent wire rust from striking through the new cover.

3. Cut pattern from brown paper, using the old shade for a guide.

4. Cut parchment by pattern to fit frame.

5. Place the shade over the frame and fasten with paper clips securely to the top and bottom wires. Be careful to work out any slack.

6. Finish by lacing shade to frame with plastic or leather lacing tape. In a second method, first make your pattern by placing paper on a flat surface. Holding pencil or chalk in both hands, roll the frame across the paper, making the outline of both edges as it rolls forward. The result will be a circular pattern that will exactly fit your frame. Cut it out, allowing  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch margins all around. Slash the margins.

Place the shade over the frame, turn the  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch margins (clipped) to the inside, and sew securely to the top and bottom wires. Be careful to work out any slack. Lap and fasten the two edges together by sewing, or by using brass "round-heads" or metal brads. To finish the edges, blind with colored tape or narrow upholsterer's finish braid.

EXPLAIN NEW RULES TO PECAN MARKETERS

By Howard Simmons, Hancock County Agent

There seems to be considerable misunderstanding among the pecan handlers regarding the pecan marketing agreement.

The pecan agreement and order regulating the handling of pecans grown in Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi and South Carolina was signed by the Secretary of Agriculture on Sept. 20, 1949. The initial regulations which went into effect Oct. 20 and continued until superseded by other regulations issued by the Secretary, state that no person shall handle except as provided in section 994(e), any unshelled pecans (1) unless such pecans grade U. S. Commercial or better, as such grade is defined in the United States Standards for unshelled pecans, and (2), unless they have a count per pound of less than 91 nuts, and the 10 smallest nuts in a 100-unit sample weight at least 1.5 ounces.

The responsibility of having shipments properly inspected and certified is upon the producer. If the buyer acquires pecans which have not been inspected and moves them outside the 5-state area, he is jointly liable with the producer or grower and subject to federal action.

For further information contact the County Agent or W. E. Leigh, Managing Agent, Pecan Administrative Committee, Albany, Georgia.
